

Message from the Chief Medical Officer

Professor Ian Philp

Chief Medical Officer at Hull and East Yorkshire Hospitals NHS Trust.

Ian.Philp@hey.nhs.uk

The launch of METRIC is an important landmark in the work of Hull and East Yorkshire Hospitals. The new Journal provides a platform to share some of the work which my clinical colleagues are doing to develop and implement best practice in clinical care, education and research. This first edition is off to a great start.

The work featured is just the tip of the iceberg. We have enough material to fill the pages of METRIC for many years to come. I therefore encourage colleagues to get your work in fast. There will be competition for space. I am sure that METRIC will be read widely both within and outside our Hospitals. It will help strengthen the reputation of our hospitals as a centre of excellence and attract people to pursue fulfilling careers here. I congratulate Dr Makani Purva and Professor Sunil Bhandari and the team in Clinical Education for getting this project off the ground. I hope readers will share my excitement and pride in discovering more about the brilliant work undertaken in our hospitals."
